Construction Design Management (CDM)

The discharging of an organisation's duty under the Construction (Design and Management) regulations is paramount in ensuring that related projects and works occurring on site are well planned and managed and pose minimal risk to our Customers⁴ (occupiers, communities, partners, colleagues) and the organisation as a whole.

Landsec has successfully discharged these duties and has wide experience in managing projects of varying scope and size. Our in-house Technical Team have all the competencies (SKATE (skills, knowledge, training, attitude, training, experience)) to discharge of these duties. In some cases, external resources are used as and when required. External suppliers are put through the Supplier Evaluation Process before any works can commence. Where necessary, the Corporate Health, Safety and Security Team provides a resource for information and guidance when required.
